Enrollment

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Additional guidance on reporting race and ethnicity data.

Total number of students enrolled in 2016-17	94
Unduplicated number of males enrolled in 2016-17	24
Unduplicated number of females enrolled in 2016-17	70

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. (§205(a)(1)(C)(ii)(H))

2016-17	Number Enrolled

Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2016-17. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205(b)(1)(H))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2016-17 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

    II. Response for General Education Alternative Certification Teachers Teach students with disabilities effectively The conceptual and legal basis of inclusive instruction is introduced in SPED 391 which is taken by all teacher candidates. Throughout the course instruction on the impact and influence of different impairments on a student's demonstrations of learning is discussed. Specifically, general educators are guided on how to understand these learning behaviors in order to decode the intersection of the characteristics and the tasks demand. They receive specific instruction on the Universal design for learning and the fundamentals of the CAST model of UDL. All of the instructors require them to complete observations in inclusive settings which are further discussed and analyzed in class. IEP Team Participation The legal requirements of the role of the general educator are presented in SPED 391. The process, legal responsibilities, and elements are presented through lectures, use of Department of Education websites, and videos. Teacher candidates also participate in small discussion groups where they evaluate and write goals and instructional objectives for simulated scenarios. Their performance in these situations and on tests are used to measure understanding of IEPs. Limited English Proficiency The instructional needs of students with limited English proficiency is embedded within the lectures of SPED 391 on understanding and working with families, understanding how behaviors are normative and determined by dominate culture, and how the difference in spoken language can appear as underachievement or mask a student's true capabilities. Again, in this course they have discussion groups, online simulation activities, and case study scenarios to assist them in understanding how to meet the needs of these students. IV. Response to Alternative Certification Special Education Teachers Teach students with disabilities effectively The conceptual and legal basis of inclusive instruction is introduced in SPED 491(G) which is taken by all special education teacher candidates. Throughout the course instruction on the impact and influence of different impairments on a student's demonstrations of learning is discussed. Specifically, general educators are guided on how to understand these learning behaviors in order to decode the intersection of the characteristics and the tasks demand. They receive specific instruction on the Universal design for learning and the fundamentals of the CAST model of UDL. All of the instructors require them to complete observations in inclusive settings which are further discussed and analyzed in class. Special education teacher candidates are provided more in depth guidance in teaching students with disabilities in their coursework in SPED 472 (G) or 482(G), 453(G) or 483(G), and 474(G) or 484(G). The first of these courses focuses on understanding the impact of disability characteristics on learning behaviors and how teacher candidates can effectively design learning environments that promote successful outcomes. This again also includes consideration of Universal Design for Learning, motivation and engagement strategies, and preventive classroom management strategies. In SPED 472(G) or 482(G), 453(G) or 483(G), and 474(G) or 484(G) candidates extend their knowledge of instruction of basic subjects and learn specific strategies for assessment of learner progress, design of instructional supports for students with disabilities, collaborative instruction with general educators, and diagnostic assessment of student needs. They demonstrate these skills through discussion of case simulations, submission of lesson plans, design and implementation of assessment portfolios, and direct instruction of students with disabilities in the learning clinic. Additional, knowledge of instruction and collaboration is presented in SPED 426(G) or 436 (G)– Prevocational and Transition Skills course and in SPED 414(G) or SPED 535(G)– Interdisciplinary and Interagency Teaming Course. The Reading Methods class also addresses within their required lesson plans that students submit instructional designs that address accommodations for diverse learners in their classrooms. Teacher candidates have first hand experiences implementing these lesson plans in clinic experiences IEP Team Participation The legal requirements of the role of the special educator are introduced in SPED 491 (G). The process, legal responsibilities, and elements are presented through lectures, use of Department of Education websites, and videos. Teacher candidates also participate in small discussion groups where they evaluate and write goals and instructional objectives for simulated scenarios. Their performance in these situations and on tests are used to measure understanding of IEPs. Understanding of the IEP is developed further in SPED 453(G) or 483(G), 474(G) or 484(G), 426(G) or 436(G), 414(G) or 535(G). Within SPED 453(G) or 483(G) candidates participate in small group discussions regarding the development of IEPs using simulations. They are also expected in this course to write a simulated IEP based on a case study presented. In the clinic they meet with the parents of their assigned student to review the child's current IEP and to better understand parental concern. In SPED 474(G) or 484(G) candidates are expected to demonstrate the ability to apply information gathered in assessment to IEPs. They have additional conversations and opportunities to work with families in the clinic regarding their individual student's IEPs. In SPED 426(G) or 436(G) special education teacher candidates have the opportunity to learn the pre-vocational, vocational, and transition issues that are directly related to the IEP process. They have the opportunity to interact with teachers in the field and agency representatives and participate in discussions of simulations. They are required to write a transitional IEP based on a case study given in the class. In SPED 414 or SPED 535 special education teacher candidates have the opportunity to learn about communication and collaborative skills that may relate to the development and implementation of the IEP. Case studies and scenarios involving the development of the IEP are used in small group discussions. Limited English Proficiency The instructional needs of students with limited English proficiency is embedded within the lectures of SPED 491 on understanding and working with families, understanding how behaviors are normative and determined by dominate culture, and how the difference in spoken language can appear as underachievement or mask a student's true capabilities. Again, in this course they have discussion groups, online simulation activities, and case study scenarios to assist them in understanding how to meet the needs of these students. This course also addresses the non-discriminatory assessment requirements under IDEA.
